

MAN'S BODY FOUND HANGING TO TREE

No Indications of Suicide, and Circumstances Lead to Belief of Murder.

CLAIMED TO HAVE MONEY

Last Seen Alive on Thursday.
After Unsuccessfully Seeking Employment.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., March 22.—Owing to the severe weather which swept Bluefield and that vicinity yesterday, interrupting telephone and telegraph connection, the report of the finding of an unidentified body hanging to a tree, five miles east of Bluefield, early yesterday morning did not reach here until today. As soon as the discovery was made the officers were notified, and the coroner, K. A. Chambers, Mayor Stowers and other officers rushed there in an automobile, cut the man's body down, and he was still warm, but life had gone.

On his person were found letters from different parts of Virginia, several of which had been received at Roanoke, indicating that he had been in Roanoke several days last week. He was well dressed, his clothing having been made in London, England. His name appears to be William F. Danks. Yesterday he arrived in Bluefield and rode in an automobile to the residence of Mr. Brown, on the Princeton Road, and told him that he had formerly owned the "Hall Stone Poultry Farm" at Boulevard, New Kent County, on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, that he had sold it a few days ago for $3,000, and that he was looking for a location. He said he had been working as a hatter, and he was carrying with him all he had. He brought in an automobile back his shirt iron truck, a small valise and a small tin box, and spent part of the day with Mr. Brown. He took a great deal of interest in Mr. Brown's flock of poultry and gave Brown several poultry books. He seemed to be well versed in poultry.

He said he was a hattermaker by trade, and that he wanted to buy a place near town so he could work as a hattermaker, and run the poultry place too. He was referred to W. L. Bailey, who lives a short distance from Mr.

Brown on the same pike, as Bailey is foreman in the Norfolk and Western shops here.

Danks was told that if he got a job he could positively find a farm to suit him, as he said he carried his money with him. He did not find Mr. Bailey, so he returned to Bluefield, and again Thursday went to the home of Mr. Brown, and from there after a short time, left Brown's home and went to see Mr. Bailey. He found him and asked for a job, but Bailey told him he had no employment for him, and he left Bailey's about 7 o'clock. That was the last seen of him until his dead body was found hanging to the limb of an oak tree. His neck was broken, but both of his feet touched the ground, and there was no indication of his having struggled any what over after the fall, and his fall was less than two feet. There was little to indicate that he hanged himself. Not a cent was found on him, and if it was true that he had the money on him for the sale of the farm, it is plain that he was murdered.

Over long distance telephone, Clerk Newton Harris, of New Kent County, this afternoon said that he had never heard of any one living in that county named William F. Danks. The clerk said that he didn't know of any one having a poultry farm near Boulevard in that county, nor had he heard of the sale of any property as described above.

SUPREME COURT GIVES NO RELIEF TO CLAUDE ALLEN

Issue the writ. This was a determination on his part that no reasonable claim to a Federal right was involved in the case. The Chief Justice expressed himself as perfectly willing that the attorneys apply to other justices. That course was pursued.

Justice Hughes was next asked to grant the writ. The attorneys declined to state what action Justice Hughes had taken, but after he had considered the case they started out to visit other justices.

Announcement was made that two of the attorneys would remain in Washington to resume their appeals in behalf of Allen on Monday. This would give them opportunity to apply, if necessary, to each justice in a very possible manner of saving the life of the convicted man, who is condemned to die on March 25 at Richmond.

LAWRENCE ABBOTT WILL SPEAK HERE

Son of Outlook Editor to Address
Southern Association of College Women.

Lawrence Abbott, of the Outlook, is announced as the chief speaker at the tenth annual session of the Southern Association of College Women, which is scheduled to meet in Richmond on Tuesday, April 15, in connection with the great Conference on Education in the South. This convention opens on the day following the close of the fourth biennial convention of the Young Women's Christian Associations of the United States, and on the day preceding the first day of the Conference on Education in the South.

In this way, the convention of Southern college women will form a kind of connecting link between the two conferences, this association partaking in a measure of the functions of each of the larger conferences. The committee in charge of the program regards itself fortunate in having secured the services of Dr. Lyman Abbott's distinguished son for the principal address. Mr. Abbott will speak on the subject, "Humanizing Influence of the Humanities."

Miss May Lansfield Keller, of Baltimore, is the president of the association, and Miss Elizabeth Avery Colton, of Raleigh, N. C., the secretary. The opening session of the convention will begin at 8 o'clock on the night of April 15, in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Abbott's address will be given on that night. Succeeding meetings of the conference, to be announced in detail later, will be held April 16-18 in the hall of the House of Delegates in the State Capitol.

The features of the college women's gathering will be reports to be read by the chairmen of standing committees on the investigation of the standards of Southern secondary schools and colleges, and on the awarding of scholarships, and on the work of the joint committee of women's clubs.

Earlier in the day, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the League of Southern Women Writers will be called to order in its opening session in the auditorium of the Jefferson Hotel by the president, Mrs. Rutledge Smith, of Cookeville, Tenn. The details of the program have not been announced, but will be given to the public some time next week. Mrs. Ida Clyde Clark is secretary.

Will Amend Charter.

Under the charter of the Medical College of Virginia, its executive business must be conducted by the faculty, there being no provision for a president. Letters were sent last night to members of the new faculty, asking them to waive their rights in writing and delegate them to the board, and the General Assembly will be requested next year to amend the charter. If this is done it will not be necessary thereafter to have the faculty waive its rights, for the amendment will provide for a president.

Impus upon the face. The face has been disfigured out of all semblance to that of a human being. During the course of his affliction the patient had tried tuberculin, X-rays, etc., but with no effect. After he had made the injection Dr. Friedmann remarked confidently:

"Within ten days the lesions in the lower part of this man's face will dry up."

The last two patients suffered from tuberculosis of the kidneys. One of them had had a tubercular kidney removed last November. He had two fistulae, one seven, the other eight centimetres in depth. Dr. Friedmann expressed himself as being confident of a cure in this case.

Going Back to Europe.

After the clinic Dr. Friedmann was congratulated upon his technique and surgical skill by a number of the physicians present. Dr. Friedmann announced to-day that he will probably return to Berlin in a couple of weeks for the purpose of treating patients in his private hospital. He will return to this country, however, within
